Game Shooting

Game Shooting is a traditional outdoor activity that is not just about shooting game birds, but is also a great social activity. One of the best places to do this has to be Scotland, with its beautiful scenery, wonderful woods, and wide open spaces.

The Scottish landscape is the perfect terrain for traditional game shooting, and you would be hard pushed to find another location more ideally suited to this sport.

Traditional game shooting entails a team of beaters, whose job it is to walk through the woods, flush out the birds and drive them over the shotguns.

As well as the beaters, there are trained gun dogs behind you to make sure that all the birds that are hit are picked up quickly.

So, whether you are an expert marksman, or just a keen beginner who has always wanted to have a go at game shooting, this is for you.
